

Dear Gifted Education Community,

We want to thank you for your interest in attending our upcoming conference on gifted education. We are thrilled to see so much enthusiasm and passion for this important topic.

However, we must inform you that our conference is now officially full. We have reached our building's maximum capacity, and as much as we would love to squeeze everyone in, we cannot exceed venue limits. We know this news may be disappointing, and we truly apologize. The conference committee is already looking ahead to 2024 and considering strategies to deliver a successful and productive conference.

It is encouraging to see such a high level of interest in attending in person, and we would like nothing more than to have all of you join us.

To still take advantage of the robust workshop schedule we have planned, please consider registering for exclusive access to recordings of scheduled sessions. By registering for the recordings, you can benefit from the content and insights shared during the conference.

Sincerely,

The Conference Committee
